EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT SOUTH CAROLINA, October 27, 1865, To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives : GENTLEMEN: I have the honor of transmitting to you the report of the Commission, appointed by order of the Convention, "to propose such legislation as will be necessary and proper in consequence of the alterations made in the fundamental laws, and especially to prepare and submit a code for the regulation of labor and the protection and government of the colored population of the State."

The report embraces "A Bill preliminary to the legislation induced by the emancipation of slaves;" "A Bill to establish and regulate the domestic relations of persons of color, and to amend the law in relation to paupers, vagrancy and bast rdy;" "A Bill to establish District Courts;" "a Bill to amend the criminal law." These bills have been happily conceived and admirably prepared as a perfect system of law adapted to our new state of affairs. I would urge on the Legislature the immediate consideration of the code of laws. It is absolutely necessary for the protection of colored persons and the enforcement of their labor. Without it, there will be the greatest confusion, idleness and crime at * the beginning of the next year. The farmers and planters with to know, at once, what they may depend on in regard to the labor of the colo persons, in preparing their plantations for the next year. The peace and quiet and good order of society imperiously demand immediate legislation on these subjects. The mere setting free of the negro, without providing, by proper legislation, for the protection of his rights of person and property, will not meat the expectations of the Federal anthorities, and they will retain their military forces throughout the State for the purpose of affording this protection to the freedmen and colored persons. As soon as we pass proper legislation on this subject, and have our State government fully organized, I feel assured the President will issue his proclamation, declaring that South Carolina is no longer in rebellion and entitled to her position once more as a member of the Federal Union. Then your Senators ane Members of Congress cannot, with any show of propriety, be excluded from their seats. If you have any doubts about the constitutionality of your legislation, in the absence of a constitutional Governor, you may consider and pass the bill, and let them be presented to the Govenor elect, as soon as he is imagurated, for his approval. A bill to re-organize the militia is equally urgent and important, and might take the same course as well as any other legislation you may see proper to pass.

Mr. Sullivan submitted the following resolu-tions, which were agreed to:

1. Resolved, That under the provisions of th new Constitution of the State, all the bills passed by this General Assembly will be subject to the veto of the Governor elect, who cannot be inaugurated until first week of the regular session in

2. Resolved. That inasmuch as no bill can become a law until first approved by the Governor elected under the Constitution, or his veto has been overcone by a majority of the whole reprebly, that therefore it would be fruitless to pass any bill at this special session. Mr. Trace offered the following resolutions, which was agreed to: Resolved That a committee of three be appoinsed to confer with a similar committee that may be appointed by the House, and to report the proper mode of conducting elections by the General assembly, under the viva voce system of voting, and that a message be sent to the House, requesting the appointment of a similar commit-

Mr. Buist submitted the following resolution, which was agreed to, that it be referred to the Committee on Judiciary to inquire as to the expediency of so altering the law of evidence in this State as to make the parties to suits either in the Courts of Equity or Chancery competent witnesses, and that the said Committee have leave to report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Henery offered the following resolution, which was agreed to, and was ordered to be sent to the House of Representatives for concurrence, That his Excellency the Provisional Governor be respectfully requested to take such steps as may be necessary to have the public school buildings of the city of Charleston, claimed to be abandoned property, restored to the possession of the Commissioners of Public Schools, so that the said schools may be immediately organized.

ives and property of the people. The subject of greatest interest now in the Legislature is the negro code which has been prepared by Judge Wardlaw and Mr. Burt under a resolution of the Convention. Their Report evinces much thought and labor, and a just and comprehensive view of the condition of things resulting from the abolition of slavery. But of course there are defects in it which will be the sidered very important, in view of the early rethis subject, showing that the State has not only equiesced in the abolition of slavery but that i has enacted a code of laws for the protection of civil rights of freedmen, and adapted in al respects to the new order of things. It is believed by those who have lately conferred with the powers at Washington, that such Legi-lation will be distinguished individuals. This measure and the re-organization of the militia are considered to be of prime importance, and hence the disposition of the Legislature is to be continued in session until the work is completed.

At an early day the question was sprung thether the Legislature could enact a law until the new Governor was inaugurated, in as much as the new constitution gives him a qualified large majority. veto and requires his signature to all acts. It was argued that the Provisional Governor, tho' recognized as such, could not in view of this Constitutional amendment, be considered as Governor and approve or disapprove Bills. A committee of both Houses was raised to consider the the question, and they reported that in their to take them to Harris, who is suffering for them. opinion, no Bill could become a law until it was submitted to the Constitutional Governors. The House has adopted this Report, and if the Schate all acts passed will have to be retained to his notice which entitled him to hold his office for the remainder of the term for which he was Marshall & Bro's, and the ladies are respectfully elected, and that at the time of his election he was still in office. He then submitted the question whe her under this state of facts he was entitled to hold his seat. The House at first decided that being still Adjutant General he was ineligible. But is having been brought to the notice of the House in the discussion on a resolution introduced by Mr. DePass, that the section qualification of members, had materially amended the section on that subject in the Constitution of 1790, the question was re-considered, and it was finally decided that Mr. Garlington was entitled to his seat although he held the office referred

But in the Constitution lately ratified (28 sec. 1 act,) these words refer only to "justices of Inferior Courts." The only question then was, whether the office of Adjutant and Inspector General was an office "in the militia." This could admit of no doubt, and he ce the member elect was declared entitled to his seat.

Our stock will run from the Heaviest BROGAN to the finest PUMP BOOT. Our Ladies Goods run from the Heaviest DUTCH BOOT to the finest WHITE KID SLIPPER.

We earnestly invite the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Town and Country to give us a call before buying elsewhere. We think it will be to your interest. We would say to the Ladies if you want a pretty Hat, trimmed in the very latest Broadway style, just wait a little while longer, and you shall have your head and feet neatly and eles gantly dressed.
